

MENOPAUSE AND MY EMOTIONS

My emotions may change throughout the day.

Sometimes this is called mood swings.

I can be happy.

Then I might become sad.

I may get frustrated at times.

I will be ok!

I can talk to someone about my feelings.

I can ask for some alone time.

I can go for a walk.

I can exercise or lift weights.

Yoga may also help me control my emotions.

I should keep doing all of the things I like to do!

Mood swings can happen to all women as they go through menopause.

If I have questions, I can talk with a trusted adult like my family, staff, or doctor.

